Jury Comments

First Prize | 89941

""Excellent use of materiality, spatial scale, and a simple curation of key elements such as the kitchen counter and bed platform. The proposal could benefit from more integrated storage, although adding this might compromise the elegant simplicity of the design. Overall, a beautiful project that succeeds through its thoughtful design and use of materials."

Harrision Stallan - OMA

"A clean, cohesive plan with a refined balance of shapes, colors, and materials."

Giulio Ubini - TUC Studio

Second Prize | 89991

"An impressive presentation with clear, well-executed drawings and an excellent plan, highlighted by unique interior design features that transcend simple functionality."

Mark Adamson - Formative Architects

Third Prize | 83224

"An elegant synthesis of form, light, and materiality, enhancing the quality of inhabitation."

Jury Comments

Golden Mention | 79582

"A solid concept with a well-resolved plan, excellent renders and drawings, and a strong level of detail in the interior fixtures, fittings, and fixed joinery."

Mark Adamson - Formative Architects

Golden Mention | 82387

"It stands out for the extraordinary consistency of its kaleidoscope metaphor, which is translated seamlessly from concept to spatial articulation, materials, light, and color. Each gesture—thresholds, fragments, and luminous connections—reinforces the central idea, making the project both poetic and coherent."

Stefania Carraro - SDA Bocconi

Golden Mention | 82292

"Beautiful plan with good balance between colors and finishes."

Giulio Ubini - TUC Studio

Golden Mention | 83143

"An effective and creative floor plan, with a central band of joinery that neatly divides circulation from the main spaces. The addition of tiered seating further enhances spatial separation. A thoughtful and inventive use of elements and design; however, the materiality could be further developed to relate more strongly to the context."

Jury Comments

Golden Mention | 83363

"It reinterprets the Casa di Ringhiera's communal spirit by translating the courtyard tree into a stainless-steel island that anchors cooking, working, and gathering at the center of domestic life. Through arches, bold burgundy tones, and terrazzo and marble surfaces, the project creates a vibrant interplay of openness and intimacy, tradition and contemporary living."

Stefania Carraro - SDA Bocconi

Golden Mention | 83383

"This apartment blends the eclectic energy of its neighborhood with the owners' passion for design, layering iconic Italian and European pieces within a refined historic framework. The result is a warm, characterful home that balances openness for social life with carefully crafted intimacy in its private zones."

Stefania Carraro - SDA Bocconi

Golden Mention | 85671

"Good ability to design the plan, elegant materials, and a very good balance between shapes and colors"

Giulio Ubini - TUC Studio

Golden Mention | 86695

"The project investigates the variations and the different uses of the space in a very efficient and creative interpretation of the program. The Furniture systems nicely developed and the attention to pick each piece of furniture make every project deeply completed.
